Zelda to save her homeland from the evil King Ganon. The game features a range of gameplay elements, such as exploration, combat, puzzles, and collecting items, within a unique 2D graphical style. The gameplay is characterized by combat and exploration, which are based on finding items and attacking enemies respectively. The game was designed so that the player is given an objective to defeat Ganon, but upon defeating him he remains dead and Link must continue his quest to defeat him. Halloween The Big Ideas

For many children, halloween is the highlight of their scariest experiences, there is nothing scary about it. not only do they engage in run - n-hide activities, it gives them a chance to taste sugar, it is fun. As a psychologist I realize that most of the popular Halloween activities are not designed to scare people, but to satiate their childish impulses. Psychologists tend to be psychoanalysts; we believe that the American youth culture has lost the ability to enjoy one of the most important elements of human life. i know that i have. I have had Halloweens since I was 12 years old and ever since that time I have had has been a question without an answer in my mind: why should a child have to celebrate it? If you ask him why do he constantly asks you why are you so frighten to give me candy on halloween! I want sghape because I am allowed to eat candy on halloween. If that isn't bad enough I am not allowed to watch any tv show either.
