but thats not all. now you can create your own modulation patterns with real-time control over rate, amplitude, and shape. use the mod tool to automate the note times of any parameter and shape it by drawing an envelope or controlling a variable filter. create modulation patterns by dragging a point in the graph editor, then adjust the shape and rate of each note. once you have the note positions you like, drag the envelope to see the result in real time. no longer do you need to record a song first, then spend hours editing automation and mapping it to hardware. use the new trig function to trigger a parameter from the incoming audio. this lets you automate the function of any parameter, no matter where in the song you are. as well, you can now plug in the effects you like best. introducing the new effect generator. with this editor, you can select a preset or a synth, and then create your own effects using any available modulatory tools, including modulation curves, automation lanes, and the modulation tools. finally, groove delay lets you create complex, evolving grooves simply by dragging across the grid. drag the groove delay graph point to adjust the delay time relative to the beat, and choose the settings you want for each tap, using up to 8 parameters. drag a groove delay graph point to the left or right to shift its position, and use the groove delay pitch shifter to create complex beats or pitch-shifted melodies. groove delay lets you create evolving grooves simply by dragging across the grid. drag the groove delay graph point to adjust the delay time relative to the beat, and choose the settings you want for each tap, using up to 8 parameters. drag a groove delay graph point to the left or right to shift its position, and use the groove delay pitch shifter to create complex beats or pitch-shifted melodies. 5ec8ef588b
